

'Twas the Night to Celebrate Life

*'Twas the night to celebrate life, and inside the house
We remember a beloved friend, grandparent, parent, or spouse.
These dear people blessed our lives year after year.
Tonight, we recall shared moments with a tear.
Their love is a treasured gift to those they once held near.
One carried in our hearts now that they are no longer here.
As we gather around the tree,
We wonder how this season without them will be*

*This season, we honor their lives through the stories we share.
May we feel their love in the decorations we prepare.
Our senses will delight by the cookies and treats we bake.
May our hearts be warmed by the new memories we make.
As we move from here, may our hearts sing
With the joy that only love can bring.
Until the day we again shall meet,
May our lives bring hope to those we greet.*
